It became then an open secret that when the names of pastors should be brought before the committee Dr. Witherspoon's name would be prominently among them. the church agreed with great unanimity. It only hesitated for fear he would not accept the call. It was extended, how-ever, and, to Baltimore's regret, to the formed from the union of the Presbyterian church on Shockoe Mill and the Fourth Presbyterian church. At the consolidation of these two churches the total membership numbered 228. The Fourth Presbyterian church was formed in 1838 by the partition of the First Presbyterian church at the request of the elders and about ninety members. In this way the Grace-Street church dates her parentage to the original churches of the Presbyterian faith in this city.

THE LINE OF PASTORS.

It was under the pastorate of Rev. A. D. Pollock that the union of the two churches was effected. In 1843, five years after, Mr. Pollock resigned, in consequence of falling health. He was succeeded by Rev. Joseph C. Stiles, Mr. Stiles resigned in 1843 to accept a call to the Mercer-Street church, of New York. Then came the long and richly-blessed pestorate of Rev. Dr. Charles H. Read. He was elected to the pastorate in January, 1849, and began his labors March lith of the same year. Faithfully and acceptably he served his people until May 8, 1883, when, owing to the pastor's impaired health the church came to the rescue, and Rev. Thomas Drew, D. D., of Chase breach both morning and night to-day, and will conduct several special meetings to the close of the week, preparatory to communion on the second Sunday.

A WAY DOWN SOUTHERNER.

The brilliant divine is from the land of the cotton and the cane. He was born in Monroe county, Mississippi, and received his early training in the neighboring country schools. For special preparation for college, however, he attended the famous academy at Green Springs, Ala, under the presidency of the distinguished Henry Tutwiler. In the year 1888 he decided to enter the ministry. In pursuance of this determination he was received as a candidate for the ministry by the ed as a candidate for the ministry by the Tombeckbee Presbytery, of Mississippi. At once he entered the University of Mis-At once he entered the University of Mississippi and graduated, bearing the second honor of his class in 1872. The students early recognized his ability as a speaker. He was chosen by the Hermean Society of the University to be its annual orator, and received the society's medal for "ex-cellence in debate."

ENTERS THE SEMINARY. From the halls of the university he entered the Columbia Theological Seminary and graduated from that institution in 1875. In the same year he was ordained to the full ministry by the Tombeckbee Presbytery.

Just at this period of his life came another important event in his career, the influence of which for good is yet very strong; as strong, indeed as that of a noble, richly-endowed Christian woman. On the 20th of October of this year he was married to Miss Lowra Murdoch, of was married to Miss Lowra Murdoch, of Okolona, Miss. His first pastorate was at Okolona, but, receiving a call to Maysville, Ky., began a pastorate of three years' duration there in 1877. In 1889 he resigned the Kentucky charge for the church of Jackson, Tenn. During his ministry the church grew greatly in membership and breadth of usefulness. The church building was enlarged also, and adorned, so that the old landmark seemed passed away and a handsome, seemed passed away and a handsome, modern edifice stood in its stead.

After these years of almost phenomenal progress along all lines of the churches' work he accepted a call to become the pastor of one of the largest and richest churches in the Monumental City. And it is from this city that he comes to Richnd. Again was Dr. Witherspoon's pastorate marked by tremendous additions to the church. In the three and one-half years of his ministry there there were 212 persons received, exclusive of those who united with the missions controlled by the Church. To broaden this great mission work, his people, with him as their leader, built a church costing about were emboldened to call him. He accepted and is with them to-day.

SKETCH OF THE CHURCH.

As the "Grace-Street Presbyterian," the church has been known only since May 30, 1870, this name being adopted in the place of the title "United Presbyterian." The building itself is one of imposing and magnificent proportions. It is one of the largest in the city, its seating capacity being about 1,500. In interior furnishings much of the artistic sense is gratified, and the comfort of the worshipper has received paramount attention. The United Presbyterian church, which is but the Grace-Street Presbyterian church under another name, was constituted by an act of the East Hanover Presbytery on the 20th of September, 1838. It was called "United" to commandate the fact that it was

Grace-Street people's joy, and to Richmond's gain, he accepted it.
